

Employee Recognition Banquet 2012
Feb. 22, 2012

Thank
You

Joshua,

I know you feel uncomfortable when you are publicly recognized for the things you "just do." So, instead of making you feel uncomfortable, this is my kudos to you.

Joshua Yone is hard to recognize for one or two things in particular, because he helps out, goes the extra mile, all the time. He's always got my back. While he challenges me and pushes me to reach my full potential, he is also always offering support along the way. When projects and programs come together, he is right there cheering and celebrating the success! When things don't pan out as planned, he will find the bright side of the situation, has ideas to make things better in the future, and puts the situation in perspective - that it's not the end of the world. Joshua listens to concerns, thoughts, and ideas, treating me like a colleague rather than a superior. And, most importantly, Joshua always knows how to have fun. He knows, and helps remind me, not to take work too seriously. Because, what's the point of working at Fire Rivers MetroWorks if you can't stop and look at nature's beauty?!

Thank you Joshua, for everything you do for me. I know you hate when I call you my supervisor, but... Best Supervisor Ever!!

Sincerely,
Laurie M. Hayes
